Parental Controls

With Content & Privacy Restrictions in Screen Time, you can block or limit specific apps and features on your child's device. You can also restrict the settings on your iPhone, iPad or iPod touch for explicit content, purchases and downloads, and privacy.

Family Sharing

<https://www.apple.com/family-sharing/>

With Family Sharing, you and up to five other family members can share access to amazing Apple services such as iCloud+, Apple Music, Apple TV+, Apple Fitness+, Apple News+ and Apple Arcade. Your group can also share iTunes, Apple Books and App Store purchases, and a family photo album. You can even help locate each other's missing devices.

One adult in your household — the family organiser — invites your family members. When family members join, they get instant access to the group's subscriptions and content that are eligible for sharing. Each family member uses their own account, so everyone's experience stays personalised and private.

Share purchases, subscriptions, iCloud+ and more

When you set up purchase sharing, everyone in the family gets access to the apps, music, films, TV shows and books that family members buy. The content automatically appears on the Purchased page in the App Store, iTunes Store, Apple Books or Apple TV app. Some items can't be shared.

Share Apple subscriptions

Whether it's music, TV and movies, news, games or fitness, Apple subscriptions have something for everyone. And with iCloud+, you can share storage and features such as iCloud Private Relay, Hide My Email and HomeKit Secure Video support with your family.

When you use Family Sharing, your whole family can share access to the same Apple subscriptions. With Apple One, you can bundle everything together for one low monthly price. You can also share some other subscriptions that you sign up for in apps from the App Store.

Everyone's personal files and preferences stay private

When you share iCloud+, family members can't see each others' photos, files or documents. And when you share other subscriptions, like Apple Music, Apple Fitness+ or Apple TV+, each person sees their own preferences and recommendations — not the whole family's.

Share locations and find devices

To help you stay coordinated, people in your family group can share locations. And you can help other family members find their devices if they're missing.

Keep track of where everybody is

With Family Sharing, you can use the Find My app to share your location automatically with your family. If you need privacy, you can temporarily stop sharing your location, just turn off Share My Location in the Find My app.

Apple ID

Parents can create Apple IDs for kids under the age of 13* in their family. With an Apple ID, a child can use their own account on their own device — and even make their own purchasing decisions. With integrated parental control features, parents can still set limits.

Approve what kids buy or download

If you want to see and approve what kids download, set up Ask to Buy. When a child asks to buy apps, films or other content, an alert is sent to the family organiser, who can approve or decline it directly from their device.

Kids can use Apple Cash

With Apple Cash Family, your child or teenager can send or receive money in Messages and make purchases with Apple Pay. Parents can send allowance or spending money directly to children. And parents can see and limit kids' spending. Family members under the age of 18 can also participate in Apple Card Family.

Limit how much time kids spend on their devices

With Screen Time, you can keep an eye on how much time your kids spend using apps, visiting websites and on their devices overall. Review your kids' activity reports and set time limits for specific apps directly from your own device. You can also name another family member as a parent/guardian so that you're always on the same page when it comes to your kids and their screen time.
